Reeds to Succeed

My students need reeds to succeed at playing their instruments with a good sound.

My Students

Our students attend a middle school located in a community with high needs, diverse backgrounds, and low socioeconomic neighborhoods. These high achieving students participate in an International Baccalaureate Program and our school has been an integral part of the community since 1983. Recently, the school was recognized as an International Baccalaureate Magnet School, or IB School. Many great scholars have walked through our halls and the greatness will continue. As IB students, they focus on being individuals who positively contribute to their local and global communities. Students are taught a variety of learning traits that build character and help them strive to be balanced in all aspects of life. They take classes in many different areas of study, including languages, design and fine arts.

My Project

My students need reeds to succeed at playing their instruments with a good sound. Many band instruments require a reed to produce sound. A good quality reed leads to a quality musician. My students live miles from the music store and reeds are essential to their success.

Sometimes students have to sit in class without a reed and cannot participate. They lose out on valuable rehearsal time. If our project is funded students will not have to worry about finding a music store or about the expense of buying a new reed. Reeds do break, it happens, now I can help students get a new reed right away and on with rehearsal and success.

Donations to this project are now being matched, thanks to support from An Anonymous Arts Funder. Every child should have access to essential art materials and experiences. An education in the arts makes children well-rounded, engaged, and active citizens of the world. This project has been supported in an effort to ensure that all students gain from the many benefits that arts education provides.
